

Some people would be forced to purchase broadband DSL only from the telephone company's ISP, if this goes through. It would harm individual consumers and would limit individual choices allowing one to purchase ISP only from a monopoly. It would also prohibit individuals from supporting their LOCAL economy, by choosing a local ISP. Just because the giant can squash all local competition doesn't mean we should allow it do so.